

VILLA WIRES WASHINGTON AGENT HE WILL NOT MOVE ON CARRANZA

munication stated that Villa's move toward Carranza's present position in Monterrey carried absolutely no threat of war upon the First Chief. He insisted that his despatch from Villa showed plainly that Villa's move from Aguascalientes back to Torreon involved no intention of open hostilities toward Carranza or his followers and that he still recognized Carranza as the First Chief of the Constitutionalists.

Both factions admit, as do Administration officials, that the end of mediation has been reached unless Carranza does agree to this proposal of the A. B. C. envoys. In the meantime some amusement has been caused here at the assertions of the A. B. C. diplomats that they have accomplished the task that they undertook and are now ready to adjourn.

According to the Washington viewpoint the scheme of mediation is still uncertain, linking altogether on Carranza's attitude. If the Constitutionalists refuse to join in setting up a provisional Government the entire plan for a settlement of the differences between the United States and Huerta will again be in the air.

ANGELES REPORTED SLAIN.

Unofficial Advice Say He Faced Villa's Firing Squad.

GALVESTON, June 30.—Unofficial and unconfirmed advice reached here today to the effect that Gen. Felipe Angeles, recently deposed Minister of War in Gen. Carranza's Cabinet and later a commander in the Constitutional army, has been put to death by orders of Gen. Villa.

Official advice from the Carranza headquarters today say that Gen. Angeles has been dishonorably dismissed on charges of insubordination and treason. At first he was removed from the office, family of the Constitutional Government and assigned to a command in the army at the demand of Gen. Villa. Gen. Carranza says he caused so much trouble and was so instrumental in poisoning Villa's mind that he was stripped of his command.

While there is no official confirmation of the execution, Juan T. Burns, Constitutional Consul and business agent here, who is in close touch with both Carranza and Villa, says he does not doubt that the wily Angeles has faced Villa's firing squad.

"Villa's motto is death to the traitorous," and "he who is traitorous is traitorous to all," said Consul Burns.

According to the advice received at the Constitutional headquarters here several minor officers who have been figuring in the rupture will be executed as soon as their guilt is established.

VILLA HAS OWN JUNTA

Indications That General Has Set Up Quarters in Washington.

EL PASO, Tex., June 30.—The tense situation in the Constitutional ranks is reflected by the attitude of the representatives of Carranza and Villa at this point.

While both sides declare for publication that the relations between the Supreme Chief and his best fighting general are strained, they insist that they have not reached the point where there will be decision by arms.

Villa came up to Torreon only to go to El Paso to attend the military funeral of Gen. Trinidad Rodriguez, who was killed at Zacatecas, say his agents. Villa has come north to confer with Carranza's representatives and to discuss the situation, and it will all be smoothed down by the elimination of Gen. Felipe Angeles.

It is noted, however, that Lazaro de la Garza and A. Parias, Villa's commercial agents, have begun to talk to Washington over a leased telegraph wire, as if he had started an independent junta of his own at the capital. They are sending and receiving messages for hours at a time, but they will not say with whom they talk.

The explanation of the Carranzistas is that Villa has organized a lobby at Washington in order to have the embargo on arms lifted and that he is not supplanting the official junta of the Constitutionalists.

Americans arriving at El Paso from Torreon say that before starting south for the Zacatecas fight Villa expressed himself forcibly on the arms question and other things to some of them. He declared that if it had not been for Carranza's meddling, for his strong anti-American policy after the American occupation of Vera Cruz, the embargo would never have been reestablished.

Carranza at the present moment controls the only source of supply of arms for the Constitutionalists. Tampico. It would not surprise Americans along the border to hear any day that Gen. Carranza has come out for Villa, thus shutting out the Supreme Chief.

Villa will not go to Monterrey to talk to Gen. Carranza, say his agents, but they are not so sure that he will not see some representative of the chief at Torreon.

The only word to come from Villa today was a denial of the Breckinridge statement that George C. Carothers, State Department representative, is influencing him. He declares that Carothers never made an attempt to influence him, but had attended to the mission on which he was sent.

Hippolito Villa, brother of the General, left Juarez in a special train for Chihuahua today. It was reported that he took an accumulation of ammunition which has trickled across the river during the last two months.

The Federal representatives are making way while the sun shines. Arturo Elias, Inspector of Mexican Consulates, announced tonight that Dionicio Martinez, at the head of his guerrillas, has recaptured Monclova from the Carranza General in charge. He confiscated arms and took prisoners.

MEDIATORS QUIT TO-DAY.

South American Envoys Claim Success for Their Labors.

From a Staff Correspondent of THE SUN. NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 30.—The mediation conference will be declared formally closed to-morrow afternoon. Ambassador da Gama of Brazil returned this morning from Long Branch, where he had gone for his summer vacation, his residence having been required by Ministers Naon of Argentina and Suarez of Chile. The South American envoys will prepare to-morrow a statement summarizing their work here and explaining why they have decided it is useless for them to remain here any longer.

In this statement the mediators, it is understood, will say that, having issued an invitation to the Constitutionalists to attend the conference and to discuss with representatives of Gen. Huerta a new government for Mexico, they feel that they have accomplished all that could be expected of them. The failure of the Constitutionalists to keep their promise and send delegates here can be blamed only on themselves, and the mediators do not

Carranza Rejects All Huerta Railroad Acts

MONTERREY, June 30.—Gen. Carranza sent telegrams to his representatives in Washington today authorizing the publication of a statement that all acts of Gen. Huerta and the provisional Government of Mexico concerning railroads will be considered illegal by his government. He declares they will not be recognized by the Constitutionalists.

It is deemed advisable, nor even dignified, to remain here any longer, waiting on Gen. Carranza and his agents in Washington. The mediators contend that their work has been entirely successful. They assert that having prepared an agreement by which a war between the United States and Mexico has been avoided they have accomplished all that they ever intended to do. They also maintain that they were successful in obtaining from Gen. Huerta, through his delegates to the conference, a promise to resign if a satisfactory agreement could be arrived at, which is more than they expected when they first offered their good offices to the United States.

Although these claims of the mediators are undisputed there is no doubt in the minds of certain observers of the situation here that mediation has failed. The matters mentioned in the three articles of the protocol prepared by the mediators permit only to the incident of the flag salute at Tampico and the promise of the United States and the mediating governments to recognize the new provisional government such a government is ever established.

The question of the presence of American troops at Vera Cruz is not mentioned. The mediators therefore will adjourn, with nothing but a promise from the United States to withdraw the demand made by Rear Admiral Mayo for a salute of twenty-one guns to the American flag. This authorities in international law have already declared to be a question of national honor which cannot be submitted to mediation.

In the statement which they will issue to-morrow the mediators, it is understood, will explain that they will be willing at all times to place themselves at the disposal of the contending factions should their assistance be required.

MEDIATION HOPE AT END.

Huerta Newspaper Announces Rejection of Terms From Americans.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. Mexico City, June 30.—The Imparcial, the official Huerta organ, prints today the statement that the Mexican delegates have flatly declined to accept the terms of the Americans for any further conference. The intimation is that all hope of further mediation is at an end.

The newspaper says also that the recent revelations in the Hopkins letters established beyond a doubt that the United States Government has sustained the revolutionists.

AMERICANS THREATENED.

Admiral Mayo Acts on Hostile Demonstrations in Tampico.

GALVESTON, Tex., June 30.—Word was received in Nueva Laredo today that several hundred Americans in the Panuco oil fields near Tampico have been so molested and threatened by Mexicans that they are seeking passage to the United States. Mexicans there and in the city of Tampico are so opposed to Americans that it is thought best to get them out of the country.

At the urgent request of the American Consul and American citizens Admiral Mayo of the American fleet has visited provincial Gov. De Luna and requested that attention be given to the matter. According to despatches an American family was driven from the Panuco oil fields yesterday by a band of Mexicans, and others were told to leave the country at once.

Gov. De Lara has promised protection, but the anti-American feeling is so strong that trouble is expected. All the Americans are well armed.

Gen. Carranza has sent to each military chief, including Villa, a copy of the proposals submitted by President Wilson for mediation, but as yet no replies have been received. These replies were expected last night, and the fact that no replies have been received is believed by Carranza agents here to mean that the Constitutional chief objects to terms of the United States.

From reliable sources it was learned today that Gen. Carranza will delay the acceptance of mediation, even if the military chiefs are willing, until the fall of Mexico city, when the Constitutionalists will be in absolute power and in a position to dictate matters to the United States rather than be dictated to.

The date for taking Mexico city is fixed for August 15. After then Gen. Carranza will be willing to enter the mediation congress and not before, unless Huerta flees. This is the inside information at Nueva Laredo, irrespective of what the United States may think or say.

PETROLEUM PROFITS GROW.

Tampico Company's Report Shows Prosperity Despite Revolution.

The Mexican Petroleum Company, which has important wells and refineries at Tampico, does not appear to have suffered from the Mexican upheaval in the year ended December 31.

Its report made public yesterday shows profits of $4,275,369, an increase of

CATHOLIC EDUCATION SPREADS.

Delegates at Eleventh Annual Convention Hear Reports.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 30.—About 50 delegates to the eleventh annual convention of the Catholic Educational Association, which was opened today by Archbishop Prendergast of Philadelphia, heard reports on the spread of Catholic education throughout the country. The trustees reported that the church maintains eleven universities, 500 colleges and academies, summer schools under the auspices of the Catholic University and 1,700 parochial schools, where 1,700,000 children are instructed.

The recent gift of $40,000 from the Campbell estate to the St. Louis University medical college was also reported. The association has succeeded in eliminating instruction in sex hygiene in schools in Chicago and other cities.

SAY PERSECUTION INCREASES.

Central Conference of American Rabbis Meets in Detroit.

DETROIT, June 30.—Forty per cent. of the 2,000 Jews in the United States are represented by rabbis from all parts of the country at the twenty-fifth annual convention of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, which was opened to-night at the Temple Beth-El.

The conference is a confederation of the reformed Jewish congregations of America. They hold to the spirit rather than to the letter of the old law and approve the opening of the doors of equal opportunity to Israel, throughout the world.

Delegates said that never was the persecution of the Jews so pronounced as at present in some European countries. One of the resolutions to be adopted by the convention undoubtedly will deal with these persecutions. Another probably will plead for a liberal interpretation of the immigration laws.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS DECREASE.

Collector's Report Shows Comparatively Small Drop.

Collector Dudley Field Malone in giving out the report of the foreign commerce of the fiscal year ended yesterday said the customs duties were much larger than had been anticipated. They are $197,078,807.36, only $6,158,300.90 less than the receipts of the previous fiscal year.

The value of the imports for the fiscal year 1913-14 was almost the same as that of the preceding fiscal year, the former $1,048,482,655, and the latter $1,048,970,451.

RECEIVERS FOR THREE BANKS.

Hope for Disentangling Lorimer Institutions Affairs Is Given Up.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Hope of solving the difficulties of the Calumet State, Broadway State and Illinois State banks, three institutions in the Munday-Lorimer chain carried down with the collapse of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings Bank, was abandoned to-night. Indications are that receivers will be asked for the three institutions possibly to-morrow.

Actually, the State bank examiners the stockholders and depositors of the three institutions have not been able to come to an agreement with the La Salle Bank, the fourth in the Lorimer-Munday string, will receive further time to try to adjust its affairs.

SAFER CITY, SAYS ADAMSON.

Commissioner's Reports Efficacy of Fire Prevention Doubled.

The successful employment of new measures to secure fire prevention in lodging houses, theatres and film storage places is the subject of a report sent yesterday by Fire Commissioner Adamson to Mayor Mitchell. The efficacy of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, the Commissioner states, has been doubled by the new rule in force since January 1 under which no license is issued to lodging houses or theatres which have not complied with all the requirements of the Fire Department.

All lodging houses have been inspected, with the result that 144 came under the ban, sixteen of which were found to be long to the same syndicate in Boston whose lodging house burned last December with a loss of twenty-seven lives. The total number of conditions remedied since January 1 has been more than 100,000.

Commissioner Adamson also has begun a thorough inspection of the public school buildings as a result of recent criticism of them. A special board consisting of Deputy Chief Beeghin, Battalion Chief Dougherty and Fire Prevention Inspector Riley has been at this work for nearly three months and is expected to hand in a report within the next ten days.

On receipt of the report Mayor Mitchell issued a statement praising the report and the work of Commissioner Adamson.

GRAPE JUICE IS BOMBARDED AS U. S. BATTLESHIPS GO DRY

Order Forbidding Rum on War Vessels Now in Effect—Naval Officers Not Enthusiastic Over Bryan Substitute for Wine

Farewell, old Rye, 'tis a sad, sad word.

But, alas it must be given up. And the demijohn be broken.

—Old Navy Ballad.

At 11:59:30 o'clock last night did the jolly, jolly mariners of Uncle Sam's navy, as they sang the last good chanty, pour out their few and final drops of licker and lift a toast to Secretary Joseph Daniels? They did NOT. If you can believe the young officers and seamen over in the navy yard to whom a reporter for THE SUN talked yesterday afternoon Secretary Joseph will have to struggle along without a toast from his subordinates, whether they are aloft or ashore.

The navy is SORE in large caps. At midnight last night one of the privileges of the service, the wine mess, was abolished by formal order. There is hardly an officer who can't repeat the words of the order:

"The use of introduction for drinking purposes of alcoholic liquors on board any naval vessel or within any yard or station is strictly prohibited and commanding officers will be held directly responsible for the enforcement of the order."

Wherever United States warships were last night, old Vera Cruz, here in New York, on the China station or in the thirsty reaches of the Pacific, that order went into effect.

Order Causes Big Losses.

Here and there, for special reasons, the Navy Department may have extended the time for getting rid of wine mess supplies, but over the navy and yesterday they hadn't been advised of particular exceptions. The navy yard has been going dry for weeks, in preparation for the official drought, so there was no particular problem for Commandant Gleaves to solve. He promulgated the order as a formality.

The battleship Utah, recently from Vera Cruz, is the only big ship in the yard at present, although there are a flock of destroyers, torpedo boats and submarines being overhauled and polished up, but they are big enough to carry more than a midday's drink anyway, so they weren't much affected.

Capt. Gibbons of the Utah said that the order would naturally be carried out strictly aboard his ship, and that he assumed absolute obedience would follow on every ship. The Utah's wine mess has been given up practically for several days. The officer in charge of the wardroom wine mess went to Washington on leave and the few quarts of wine he left in store have trickled down to nothing.

The talk in the navy yard was that great hardship will be caused on some of the big warships by the embargo on liquor. It was said that the contract, throughout the navy, for the purchase of wine, would be out of pocket considerably and the loss to officers contributing to the wine messes hasn't increased Secretary Daniels' popularity.

In the Secretary's office, Mr. William J. Bryan, expect to popularize grape juice as a navy tipple they are apt to be disappointed. As THE SUN reported, other ships will be out of pocket considerably and the loss to officers contributing to the wine messes hasn't increased Secretary Daniels' popularity.

The order is pretty sure to be had for discipline. It is pretty sure to cause discipline. Officers who have been drinking temporarily aboard ship will now have to get their wine or liquor where they go ashore on leave, and the chances are even that they will drink more on shore than they would in their own wardrooms. Besides some officers are certain to find means of evading the order.

They will smuggle liquor to their quarters, and when the disobedience is discovered it will mean embarrassment and trouble for commanders.

But the navy's keepest chagrin is caused by the feeling that men who have always been temperate and careful are being treated as if they were alcoholics who had to be suppressed. It is hard for a naval officer to drink the order without getting red in the face and sputtering.

OFFICERS' CLUBS PROFIT.

Put in Big Stocks to Tide Thirsty Men Over Dog Days.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The United States navy, which climbed aboard Josephus Daniels' water wagon at 12 o'clock to-night.

The "wine mess" order, which became effective with the first minute of July 1, has forbidden the officers and blue jackets from partaking of the wine when it is red or any other color when they are aboard ship or in the navy yards. It is a poor thing for the navy, however, that brings nobody good, and the army and navy clubs in the large coast cities have profited by this one.

For several days past these clubs have received unprecedented quantities of "booze," and many an officer will have unlimited credit in this line at the club during the hot summer days. Most of the stores of wines on board the ships have been sent to the officers' clubs in anticipation of the order going into effect.

For some time it was thought that President Wilson would have to sign the order before it could be put into effect. It has turned out that the authority of the Secretary of the Navy, which has been docked at the Washington Navy Yard for several days, disposed of most of their store of wines to their friends before the ship sailed to-day for Hampton Roads with the body of Sen. Rojas, the late Venezuelan Minister to the United States.

The most serious question involved in the abolition of the wine mess is the entertainment of foreign potentates and the officers of foreign navies on board our battleships. It is customary to offer these visitors liquid refreshment.

LAWYER IN CELL IN WILL CASE.

Frooks Crosses to Jersey and Is Locked Up.

Samuel L. Frooks, a lawyer of 15 Pine street, Manhattan, who was indicted by the Hudson county Grand Jury last January for conspiracy to defraud, went to Jersey City yesterday and surrendered himself to Prosecutor Robert S. Hudspeth. In default of $7,500 bail, he was committed to the county jail.

Frooks, with his mother, Mrs. Sara Frooks of Bayonne, and two other persons, were indicted in connection with the alleged forging of a will purporting to be that of Bridget Haggerty, a former servant in the Frooks home. She left $5,000 on deposits in the Bowery Savings Bank, Manhattan. Under the so-called forged will, Mrs. Frooks was the chief beneficiary.

OLD TRINITY'S DOORS CLOSED.

Services End Temporarily—First Interruption in 27 Years.

Old Trinity Church closed its doors yesterday for repairs for the first time in twenty-seven years. It will remain closed during July and August. Religious services will be conducted during this period in the new Chapel of All Saints, adjoining Old Trinity on the north side.

Although the church will be closed the famous clock in the old tower looking down on Wall street will tap out the hours as usual.

St. Paul's Chapel, Trinity parish, at Fulton street and Broadway, will also undergo repairs. This can be done, however, without closing the chapel. The repairs at Old Trinity consist of painting and minor alterations. There will be no changes in the arrangement of the interior.

REPORT FAVORS ARBITRAGE.

Committee's Action Pleases Stock Exchange Members.

Stock Exchange members were made happy yesterday by the action of the special committee of the governors appointed last February to investigate the merits of a resumption of arbitrage operations on the Exchange. The committee brought in its report to the board of governors yesterday favoring this resumption. The board will not act until its next meeting in the fall.

The committee consists of Charles M. Newcomb, W. Strother Jones, E. V. D. Cox, William B. Potts and William C. Van Antwerp. Brokers claimed that the rule against arbitrage and joint accounts cut out a large amount of business with London that the Exchange here ought to have.
